

Monica Monachini

CLARIN Italy National Coordinator

Local Organizer

ANNUAL CONFERENCE 2018

Pisa, Italy

CLARIN and ILC

OUR DNA

The pioneering years: A. Zampolli

1968
He inaugurated the first Divisione Linguistica
CNUCE

1980 ILC was founded with Zampolli as its first director

Those sectors which we now refer to as Language technology and the Digital Humanities fell under the umbrella of so-called humanities computing

1991
Zampolli introduced the expression
Language Resources

... the idea of reusable LRs

... was the first to stress the infrastructural role of LRs for the sector

From the CLARIN ideato the project

2005

P. Wittenburg got in touch with N. Calzolari for the Call INFRA-2007-2.2-01 - Preparatory phase for projects in the 2006 ESFRI Roadmap

2005

Small meeting in Amsterdam

2006

meeting in Paris

2008

The CLARIN preparatory phase starts (S. Krawer) with ILC as part of the consortium

CLARIN and FLaReNet got married

2008

The CLARIN preparatory phase starts (S. Krawer) with ILC-CNR part of the consortium

2008

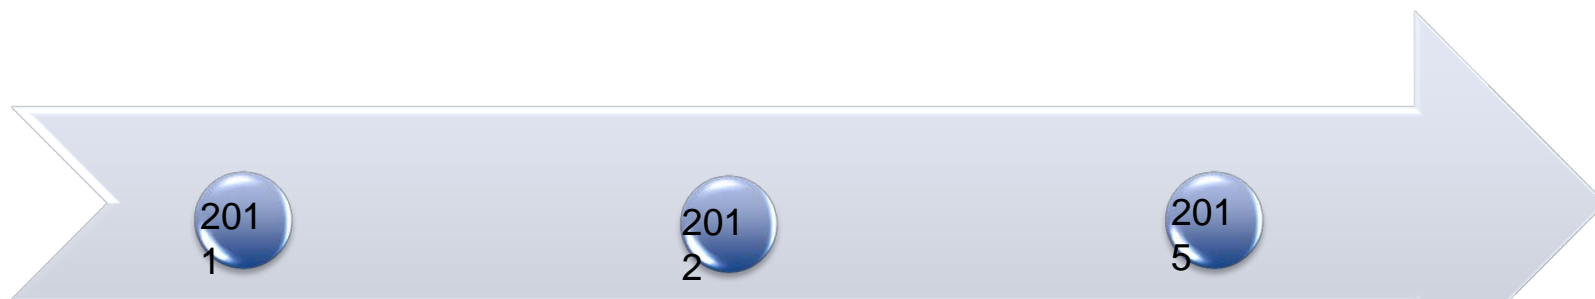

The FLaReNet (e-Content 2008-11) project starts (N. Calzolari)

07/09/2008

FLaReNet and CLARIN

Towards a National CLARIN

2011

2012

2015

End of the preparatory phase

ERIC starts:
at ILC several efforts made to create a national CLARIN advancement innovation

networking

eco-system

2011

2015

Today...

The main banner for the conference features a blue-tinted background with a detailed illustration of the Pisa Cathedral and the Leaning Tower of Pisa. A row of ten vertical panels is arranged across the top, each containing a different image or graphic related to language technology and research. From left to right, the panels show: a person speaking at a podium; a network diagram with nodes and lines; a person on a mobile phone; a group of people in a meeting; a hand holding a microphone; a close-up of a computer keyboard; a person's face; a close-up of a computer keyboard; a person in a lab coat; and a network diagram with nodes and lines. In the bottom left corner, the CLARIN logo is displayed. To its right, the text "ANNUAL CONFERENCE 2018" is written in large, bold, white capital letters, with "Pisa, Italy" written below it in a smaller white font.

BENVENUTI A CLARIN2018

